

www.lucyannunwin.com

www.uclanpublishing.com

Hello amazing humans!

Did you know...

- Octopuses have beaks like birds?
- They can fit through any hole that's bigger than their eyeball?
- And that the biggest octopus is longer from arm tip to arm tip than an adult giraffe is tall?

Octopuses are amazing, which is why I wrote all about one in my book The Octopus, Dadu and Me. The book's main character — Sashi — tries to set one free from her local aquarium. She's trying to distract herself from the sadness she feels now her Dadu is ill with dementia and can't remember who she is anymore. Luckily, she has two brilliant friends on hand to help (with both the octopus heist, and her feelings.)

Do any of you like to write? It gives me so much joy!

I love imagining what it's like inside someone else's head, and sometimes I just want to spend a bit of peaceful time inside my own head. Imagining things can be very restful, and I love that. It's amazing to have an infinite number of exciting worlds to escape to without even leaving the kitchen table!

And all you need is a pen and paper...

Wishing you words + wander!

Lucy Ann Unwin

Lucy Ann Unwin

